A new hotel officially launches Thursday in Miami's Brickell financial district, offering a mid-priced option in an area known for deluxe properties.

The Hampton Inn & Suites Brickell differs from the traditional Hampton Inn prototype. It boasts hip art, a rooftop pool and eco-friendly features that put it on track to earn the US Green Building Council's LEED certification.

Standard rooms average $189 a night and suites $259 a night in the off-peak season through Dec. 31. Rates rise to $259 a night for standard rooms and $299 a night for suites in the peak winter season. All stays include a hot breakfast daily and free wireless, high-speed Internet access.

Groups receive an average 10 percent discount. Guests who pre-pay can get a 15 percent discount, a spokesman said.

The hotel offers 221 rooms and suites, with 37-inch high definition televisions standard rooms and 42-inch ones in suites. It also includes a business center, fitness center, pool bar, 24-hour convenience store and other features.

Hotel Managers Group says:

November 9, 2011 at 3:29 pm

Hotel Managers Group, based in San Diego CA, sincerely congratulates Hampton Inn Brickell-Miami FL for having chosen to be eco-friendly and for making significant changes in defense of our planet as they try to acquire the US Green Building Council's LEED certification. "It takes a village" and if all of us in the hospitality industry do our best to preserve the environment, we will be setting an example for industry in general to follow: reduce, reuse and recycle – in the name of future generations and a healthy earth.
